What is The Job Post?

You may have used staffing companies before, but The Job Post is different.

The Job Post Staffing Co. is a social enterprise, which exists to serve both men and women in their quest for consistent work and new job opportunities. Our goal is to quickly connect local employers with qualified, eager, pre-screened men and women, so that all parties may gain a mutual benefit for the health and betterment of society.

Those who seek employment through The Job Post aren’t just finding paid work. All profits from this partnership help to fund the programs of Guiding Light, a Grand Rapids organization that, for decades, has been on the front lines of getting men off the street and into addiction and work readiness programs. At Guiding Light, we believe that an honest day’s work is an important step on the journey to mental health and sustainability. This naturally lead us to start THE JOB POST.
